

Judith Eberl

Loves facilitating conversations to uncover future-defining insights

Overview

With over 20 years' experience leading and supporting organisational development activities in multinational financial services organisations in Europe and Asia, Judith's passion has always been helping individuals prepare for future horizons, focusing on driving business performance with a sustainable spin.

Judith is an ICF-certified coach who strongly believes in the value of taking a coaching approach when facilitating the development of leadership capabilities. One of her main drivers is to provide space for global conversations around external changes that matter and help individuals to reflect about how these changes impact the way we live and lead. Judith loves to facilitate conversations where, leveraging on collective intelligence, individuals and leaders have the opportunity to gain new insights, practice a strategic leadership mindset and develop flexibility in the face of change.
