

Matthias Gruendler

A creative mindset with a systemic approach

Overview

Matthias is a certified business and leadership coach who works with executives, teams, and organisations in transition. He helps his clients better leverage the synergies between strategy, culture and identity so they can lead with a positive impact. Like an acupuncturist, he looks for the root causes that block progress while uncovering the key drivers that enhance clarity, alignment and confidence. His corporate background combined with his skills as an artist allows him to re-frame challenges into frameworks that can be easily understood.

Matthias grew up a student of the arts and pursued a career in painting and illustration. His love for creativity led him to a career in the global communications industry where he spent 20+ years as a team leader, partner and board member for Ogilvy, Leo Burnett and JWT.

Location

UK

Languages

German (native)
English

Specialties

Leadership programme design, executive and team coaching, strategic communication, organisational transformation, organisational development, personal development and mindfulness.

Clients

Matthias' clients span across multiple industries that include automotive, communications, banking, manufacturing, technology, insurance and telecoms.

Training & Qualifications

- Certified Organisational Relationship Systems Coach
- Qualified Shirlaws Business Coach
- Certified Action Coach
- Certified Team Coach (Team Coaching International)
- Certified Team Management Systems (TMS) Facilitator
- Facilitator of Learning & Development with Arts
- Licensed facilitator for Cultural Transformation Tools Facilitator (Levels 1 and 2), Leadership Circle 360, Nonviolent Communication (NVC), Team Management Systems (TMS)
- Master of Arts, Fine Arts (FH Cologne, Germany)