

Christopher Hanes

Passionate about delivering transformative learning experiences

Overview

Chris has over 25 years of coaching, consulting and leadership development experience. He is an expert in instructional design and has led hundreds of courses teaching a variety of business concepts and skills. Chris has a knack for infusing fun and creativity into his approach and his passion for delivering world-class learning solutions is unmatched. He helps individuals and organisations identify problems and solutions and close gaps from where they are to where they want to be.

Early in his career, Chris held multiple leadership roles from Director level to VP and has led global teams of all demographics, both in person and remotely.

Location

USA

Languages

English

Specialties

Executive coaching, change management, consulting, corporate training, team building and performance, program management and leadership development.

Clients

Chris' diverse portfolio includes clients from industries such as education, manufacturing, media, non-profit, technology, telecoms and more.

Training & Qualifications

- Certified Executive Coach, ICF Level 2 (Center for Executive Coaching)
- Strategic Planning, Execution & Leadership Coach (Center for Executive Coaching)
- Birkman Certified Professional
- M.Ed., Training & Development (North Carolina State University, USA)
- BA, Psychology (University of South Alabama, USA)